The Alliance to Solve PANS and Immune-Related Encephalopathies

(ASPIRE) is a national nonprofit organization serving children, adults, families, doctors, and educators affected by PANS, PANDAS, and immune-related encephalopathies. We are focused on empowering and connecting our community with tools and resources for advocacy, education, support, and awareness.

Who is ASPIRE?

We are experienced local, regional, and national nonprofit leaders building on lessons learned in our organizations. Our professional backgrounds in the allied health professions, project management, and entrepreneurship guide our work.

What Does ASPIRE Do?

We empower and connect our community with tools and resources for advocacy, education, support, and awareness. PANS is a devastating disorder, but recovery is possible. Early diagnosis and treatment lead to improved outcomes. Unfortunately, many PANS/PANDAS patients do not receive a timely diagnosis or appropriate treatment due to a lack of education about this medical condition. When access to care is delayed, symptoms can worsen and become chronic. You can improve the lives of those affected by PANS by helping to close the gap between the onset of symptoms and the start of treatment.

Why Support ASPIRE?

Your support funds ASPIRE's programs that reach five core audiences to increase awareness and understanding of PANS PANDAS on a national level while providing critical support to all community members. Would you please help ensure ASPIRE can educate the medical, legislative, school, and family communities about PANS/PANDAS?

1. National Public 2. Families & Patients 3. Schools & Educators 4. Legislators 5. Providers
